THE TRAINER - Sarah E. Domoff, Ph.D., Licensed Psychologist

Dr. Domoff is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Psychology at Central Michigan University. She completed her doctoral training at Bowling Green State University in Clinical Psychology (Child Clinical concentration) and post-doctoral training at the University of Michigan. In 2015, Dr. Domoff received a Ruth L. Kirschstein National Research Service Award (F32HD085684) from the NICHD to examine low-income mothers' beliefs about media and family mealtime practices as predictors of childhood obesity risk. Broadly, Dr. Domoff's research program seeks to promote the health and well-being of diverse, under-served children and families, with a specific focus on childhood obesity prevention and healthy media use. Dr. Domoff utilizes observational methodology, mixed-methods, and novel audio-recording technology to understand the potential impact of new media use on children's health and development.
